

OUR FAVORITE TREATMENTS FOR DRY DOG SKIN

Burt's Bees Paw and Nose Lotion

From the makers of the popular lip balm (and lots of other body care products) comes this dogs-only lotion made to soothe dry, cracked noses and paws. With soothing olive oil and antioxidant rosemary, it helps repair your dog's dry skin. As a bonus, it has a light, pleasant scent that won't irritate you or your dog.

Paw Nectar

This 100% organic paw balm packs dog-friendly ingredients like coconut oil, beeswax, shea butter, aloe, vitamin E, rosemary seed extract, and lavender oil. The natural ingredients mean a little lick won't hurt. Massage a bit onto your dog's dry, cracked paws, and let the healing begin!

ResQ Organics Pet Skin Treatment

Loaded with all-natural moisturizing coconut, hempseed, and olive oils, this ointment also contains manuka honey, long touted for its healing properties in humans and dogs alike. Use it to treat itchy paws in spring, chapped ears in winter, and minor abrasions all year long.

4-Legger Organic Nose and Paw Pad Healing Balm

This balm is not only certified organic and vegan, but it's also made in the USA. After her battle with breast cancer, she committed to using only safe, nontoxic ingredients for both herself and her pets. In addition to naturally antibacterial and soothing ingredients, this balm boasts an SPF of 15 for sun protection.

Coconut Oil

Coconut oil is one of nature's safest, most effective moisturizers. Humans have been using it for generations to soothe dry skin and hair, and it's just as useful for dogs! As a topical moisturizer, a little bit goes a long way massaged into dry doggy skin. But it's even more effective as part of their diet, boosting the immune system and improving skin and coat health from the inside out. Click here for more on the benefits of coconut oil for dogs.

Particular Paws Healing Balm for Paws and Snout

Particular Paws is a 100% natural, non-greasy balm with zero toxins, preservatives or other chemical additives. Its cooling mixture of tea tree oil and aloe vera make it especially useful to treat hot spots or dry, cracked summertime skin. Toss the stick version in your beach bag for quick, easy application.

Earthbath Oatmeal & Aloe Shampoo

Earthbath has been making all-natural dog products for over 20 years. Their Oatmeal & Aloe shampoo is specially formulated to treat dry skin, relieve itching, and leave your dog's coat soft, shiny, and smelling great. It's soap-free (meaning it cleanses without drying), gentle, and safe to use on puppies six weeks and older.

Olive Oil

Olive oil is a kitchen cupboard staple that does double duty for dogs. For an external treatment, apply a small amount to your dog's dry paws, noses, and ears. Be sure to rub it in completely, and remember, a little goes a long way! It's also effective as part of your dog's diet. Add a teaspoon to your dog's breakfast and dinner to promote healthy, hydrated skin and fur.

The Blissful Dog Nose Butter

Blissful Dog makes their organic nose butter from shea butter, olive oil, castor oil, avocado oil, almond oil, coconut oil, beeswax, cocoa seed butter, and essential oils. Rub a small amount into your dog's dry, crusty nose, and it will be soft in no time! The all-natural ingredients are dog safe, and they offer breed-specific labels for a custom moisturizing gift.

Shea Butter

This is one moisturizer you and your dog can share. Humans use pure shea butter to soften dry, cracked elbows and heels. It moisturizes and protects skin, and best of all, it's totally dog-safe when applied topically in small amounts. Use shea butter to soothe dry paws, noses, elbows, and other dry patches. You can moisturize your hands and your dog's paws at the same time.